TO IDENTIFY A GENUINE BANKNOTE:

- Examine the banknote.
- Feel the banknote for its tactile effect.
- Look for the watermark.
- Inspect the Motion stripe. It is seen as windows on the 500/=, 2000/=, 5000/=, and 10000/= banknotes and contains a diamond shape that moves when the banknote is tilted. On the 1000 there is a different stripe: check for it.
- Use an ultra-violet lamp to confirm the specific features illustrated on the posters.
- Use a magnifying glass to read the microlettering illustrated on the posters.

Be aware of counterfeits in circulation. They are completely worthless. Protect yourself by check ing your banknotes immediately you receive them.

Look for the security features described in this leaf- let. Look at the banknote carefully. Run your finger across its surface. Do not rely solely on a single feature. If in doubt, compare the banknote with one you know is genuine.

If you have a note that you suspect to be counter- feit you must take it to a bank or to the police for confirmation.

note that counterfeiting and possession ofcoun- terfeits, with intent to pass them, are punishable by law.
